Car cruncher. Potholes damage 16 cars as weather 'roller-coaster' wreaks road havoc

GRAHAM LANKTREE
graham.lanktree@metronews.ca

Two deep potholes that damaged 16 cars on the Rockcliffe

Parkway Thursday morning are just the beginning of the city's worries when it comes to weather and the roads.

"It's been a bit of a roller-coaster. In the last 48 hours or more we've dealt with snow, freezing rain, flooding and now the potholes," said Kevin Wylie, the City of Ottawa's manager of roads and traffic operations. "That's the problem with the fluctuation in temperatures. When the moisture gets down into the asphalt and then freezes, it all pops up."

After a week of flash freezes and thaws that saw more than 15 millimetres of rain fall on the city starting Tuesday night and the temperature rise to 11.6 C Wednesday, a series of deep potholes opened up in a construction zone on the Rockcliffe Parkway and throughout the city during the early-morning commute.

"In total 16 vehicles received damage. Mostly flat tires or shock damage from the car going in the hole," said RCMP spokesperson Marc-Andre Massie. "Tow trucks were called in to take care of the cars."

Drivers with damaged cars can call the city to file an insurance claim, said Wylie, noting the city spends $6.3 to 6.5 million a year on patching potholes on the roads. There are no plans, he said, to increase that funding.

"With the ways the winters have been going, it's happening more and more," he said of damage to the roads.

City workers were out Thursday filling potholes with hot asphalt, which Wylie said hasn't been available until recently.

"It gives you a much more permanent patch; previously, it's been cold asphalt, and that's just a temporary patch," he said. "In previous years we haven't had that. To get hot asphalt, you need asphalt plants to stay open through the winter, and they traditionally haven't done that, because there hasn't been enough business for them."

Court. Ottawa energy retailer, directors face 63 charges for sales contracts

An Ottawa energy retailer and four of its workers face 63 charges for allegedly going door-to-door posing as representatives of rival companies that provide air conditioning units, water heaters, and furnaces.

Between July and October 2012, the suspects allegedly targeted customers who already had business relationships with the companies being impersonated.

After receiving complaints from six consumers in Nepean, Orleans, and Hawkesbury, the ministry charged Ontario Consumers Home Services Inc. (OCHS) and its directors Vassili Tatarinov, Margarita Tatarinova, Maria Pevzner and Vitali Godonoga.

A first court appearance is scheduled for Feb. 28 at the Provincial Offences Court in Ottawa. JOE LOFARO/METRO

Peeping tom. Women's washroom voyeur suspect arrested

Police believe they have caught the peeping tom who was haunting women's washrooms in Centretown buildings.

Gatineau's Sajjad Hussaini, 32, was arrested by police Wednesday and charged with five counts of voyeurism for separate incidents between Jan. 3 and 17.

The Ottawa Police Service Sexual Assault and Child Abuse Section investigated

after victims described being followed into the washroom or that someone was waiting inside and would then try to watch them in the washroom stalls.

The Sun Life Financial branch at 99 Bank St. is one building that was targeted. Police obtained surveillance footage of a suspect which they say helped lead them to identify Hussaini.

Gillian Anderson, who played Scully on The X-Files, will be one of the special guests at the second edition of Ottawa Comiccon. CONTRIBUTED

Stars coming to second Ottawa Comiccon

The X-Files' Gillian Anderson and Batman's dynamic duo Adam West and Burt Ward are sure to draw bigger crowds at the second edition of Ottawa Comiccon this year and organizers say they are prepared for it.

Cliff Caporale, Ottawa Comiccon programming director, said last year he was expecting between 5,000 and 8,000 people to show up since it was the inaugural edition. More than 22,000 fans lined up on Saturday and Sunday, some of whom waited up to two hours just to get inside.

"It was a little longer than we would have liked. So that's why adding a Friday for this year is going to help tremendously," said Caporale. "It's going to be a much better experience than last year."

Wil Weaton and Jonathan Frakes from Star Trek: The Next Generation will be attending this year as well as Jewel Staite from the cult series Firefly.

Caporale hinted Firefly fans might be able to see another star from the show as organizers finalize the lineup.

Tickets for the May 10-12 event went on sale Thursday and are available at ottawawebcomiccon.com.

Tory Senator Patrick Brazeau faces backlash

Upset. Ridicule in Ottawa of Chief Spence's protest riles Idle No More movement

Some Idle No More organizers want repercussions for Conservative Senator Patrick Brazeau after he made what some say are inappropriate comments about Attawapiskat Chief Theresa Spence at a Conservative fundraising event.

Brazeau referred to Spence's "so-called hunger strike" in addressing about 80 people at a Legion hall in the Ottawa suburb of Orleans, and mocked her physical shape.

"I was sick two weeks ago," Brazeau said. "I had the flu and I lost five pounds. I look at Miss Spence, when she started her hunger strike, and now?"

Brazeau added as a voice in the hall called out, "She's fatter," which drew laughter from much of the audience.

Erica Lee, one of the many organizers of the Idle No More movement and the person responsible for managing the Idle No More Facebook page that has more than 90,000 likes, said although she's not surprised by the senator's remarks towards Spence, she feels they were inappropriate and there should be consequences.

"It is frustrating, because he is a First Nations senator and to have a person who you would think understand the issues behind being a First Nations person, to have him make extremely racist and sexist comments towards Theresa Spence, continuously, is very disheartening," said Lee.

spect of women and his fellow indigenous women is extremely reprehensible, just because of the amount of violence that goes on against indigenous women and to the extent to which we're dehumanized in Canada."

Lee added she feels Brazeau's position as a senator should be reviewed, but noted it may be too late for an apology.

"A public apology would be nice, but I feel he's made so many controversial remarks like this, that it's almost past the point of reparation," she said.

MORGAN MODJESKI/METRO IN SASKATOON

This isn't the first time Brazeau has been condemned for making inappropriate comments toward women.

He was criticized for insulting Canadian Press reporter Jennifer Ditchburn, saying in a tweet, "@jenditchburn while u smile Jen, others suffer. Change the D to a B in your last name and we're even! Don't mean it but needs saying."

Metro tried to reach Brazeau for comment, but phone calls to his constituency office were not returned.

Severance pay

Golden parachutes for councillors who decide not to run again: City staff

Councillors who choose not to run for office again in an election should get severance pay, according to city staff.

The move would overturn a 2004 citizens' panel recommendation to only extend severance pay to councillors who are defeated in an election.

Currently, councillors who lose their seat are eligible for one month of severance pay for each consecutive year served, up to six months. It only applies to councillors who lose their seat, equivalent to being fired.

But staff recommend extending severance pay to councillors who do not seek re-election. Staff justify the move for three reasons: the loss of job is similar; councillors are not entitled to employment insurance; and it is difficult to find a new job while serving out a term.

The city's finance and economic-development committee will consider the matter Tuesday.

Westboro

Condo-proposal review granted

The Ontario Municipal Board has OK'd a review of a condo proposal for 355 Roosevelt Ave. in Westboro.

The board ruled earlier in January in favour of Uniform Development Inc., but will rehear the case.

Uniform is seeking approval for two towers, one 14- and one 16-storeys, for a neighbourhood with a six-storey height restriction. The city approved an exception, but the OMB later overturned their decision after a citizen-led appeal.

Somerset West

Developer plans nine-storey building

Developer DCR Phoenix are planning a nine-storey mixed-use complex at Somerset West and Lebreton streets.

The building would feature a grocery, a restaurant, and 75 rental apartments.

The development would need a zoning amendment. The lot has a height restriction of 16 metres, and the nine-storey building would be more than 35 metres.

Waste is down, green-bin use is up in Ottawa

Latest numbers encouraging. But a full year is needed to assess impact of biweekly collection, Coun. McRae says

alex.boutilier@metronews.ca

Year-end solid-waste collection figures are cause for optimism, but it's too soon to draw any concrete conclusions about the switch to biweekly garbage collection, says Maria McRae, chair of Ottawa's environment committee.

The total amount of waste passing through the gates at the Trail Road landfill decreased 2.8 per cent to 193,170 tonnes in 2012 over 2011, according to numbers released by the city Thursday.

Total household organics collected inched up to 53,420 tonnes in 2012, an increase of 360 tonnes from 2011.

Looking at the two months

City of Ottawa green bins.

METROLAND NEWS SERVICE FILE

since the municipality moved to biweekly garbage pickup, the numbers increase more sharply. Between Nov. 1 and Dec. 31, 2012, the total amount of organics collected rose 17 per cent over the same period a year before. The total amount of waste taken to the landfill decreased by 19 per cent.

"It's far too early for us to draw conclusions about the long-term impact that the biweekly collection has had in our city," McRae told reporters Thursday.

"I believe we need to wait a full year to assess the true impact of biweekly waste collection, so we actually have a clear and clean snapshot of how 2012 and 2013 compare."

While the amount of organics collected by the city remains below the levels envisioned by the city's contract with Orgaworld, McRae said the diverted waste is extending the Trail Road landfill's life.

The city is also developing mobile apps for Android and iPhones that provide solid-waste collection information directly to residents.

New Senators song nearly crashed with computer: Rapper

'Ready for More'

Delayed by lockout, song had to be rerecorded after tech glitch

graham.lanktree@metronews.ca

Just two days before he was supposed to deliver a new song promoting the Ottawa Senators to the team mid-January, rapper Peter Joynt's computer crashed.

"I started working on the beat in September, and with the lockout, I put it on the shelf," said Joynt. "They called me up in January and I got back on it. Then two days before I was to submit the track to the Sens, my computer crashed and died. I lost all my music files."

Immediately, Joynt bought a new computer and began rerecording the track, called Ready for More, from a backup

Local Capcity rapper Peter Joynt said that his new track for the Ottawa Senators almost didn't happen after a computer crash deleted the nearly finished track from his hard drive.

PETER JOYNT/CONTRIBUTED

he had saved before Christmas. "I still had to stay up all day and night reworking the song, finding samples again and rerecording all the vocals," he said. "It was stressful, to say the least."

With a helping hand from friend DJ SoNice, Joynt said he was just able to meet the deadline. "The silver lining is that the track turned out even better than it was initially," he said. "The cuts (SoNice) made were way better than the ones I did originally."

Joynt got the choice assignment after Capcity, his music video ode to Ottawa, took off in 2011 and the Sens screened it on the video monitors over centre ice at Scotiabank Place. "Apparently the Sens and fans really liked it, so they asked me back," he said.

With the help of Sens videographer Chris Paine, Joynt shot the video for Ready for More at the Sens home opener on Jan. 21. "The idea with the video is to have it play at the start or between periods at each game this season," he said. "This song was a roller-coaster ride, but a labour of love nonetheless."

The track is available for free download at thejoynt.ca. Watch the video at metronews.ca.

Tory MPs. Harper rebuffs effort to have abortions investigated as homicide

Prime Minister Stephen Harper says while some of his Conservative MPs may not agree, abortion is legal in Canada.

Harper made the comments while under questioning in the House of Commons over a letter written by three Tory MPs who want the RCMP to investigate hundreds of abortions as possible homicides.

"I think all members of this house, whether they agree with it or not, understand that abortion is legal in Canada, and this government, myself included, has made it very clear that the government does not intend to change the law in this regard," Harper said Thursday.

The MPs from Saskatchewan, Alberta and Ontario made the request on House of Commons letterhead to RCMP Commissioner Bob Paulson.

They call the abortions in question "possible murders" that require a thorough police investigation.

"From 2000 to 2009 in Canada, there were 491 abortions of 20 weeks gestation and greater that resulted in live births," reads the letter dated Jan. 23. "This means that the aborted child died after it was

Cabinet colleagues and opposition MPs are wishing Jim Flaherty a speedy recovery after the finance minister revealed he has a rare skin disorder.

A spokesman confirmed in an email Thursday that Flaherty suffers from Bullous pemphigoid, a blistering skin disorder that can produce lesions.

Diane-35

Drug under review after French ban

Health Canada says it is reviewing all available information on the drug Diane-35 following France's decision to ban it following four deaths over the last 25 years.

The four women died of blood clots linked to their use of Diane-35, an acne drug that is also widely prescribed "off-label" as a contraceptive.

France plans to withdraw

Diane-35, licensed in 135 countries, from sale in three months. Meanwhile, doctors are banned from prescribing the medication.

Available since 1998 in Canada, Diane-35 is approved only for the temporary treatment of severe acne in women who are unresponsive to other treatments, Health Canada said Thursday.

Blood clots are a rare but well-known side-effect of birth control pills, said the federal department.

For real this time

Beyoncé sings the national anthem during a news conference Thursday in New Orleans. The singer answered critics of her Inauguration Day performance the best way she could — with another sterling performance of the national anthem. The difference? On Thursday, it was live. She admitted during her Super Bowl news conference that when she performed for President Barack Obama and the nation, she decided to sing to a prerecorded track because she didn't have time to practice. She said she wanted the day to go off without a hitch. MATT SLOCUM/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Blaer hitch. Icelandic teen wins bid to keep 'inappropriate' name

A 15-year-old Icelandic girl has been granted the right to legally use the name given to her by her mother, despite the opposition of authorities and Iceland's strict law on names.

Reykjavik District Court ruled Thursday that the name Blaer can be used. It means light breeze.

The decision overturns an earlier rejection by Icelandic authorities who declared it was not a proper feminine name. Until now, Blaer Bjark-ardottir had been identified simply as "Girl" in communications with officials.

"I'm very happy," she said after the ruling. "I'm glad this is over. Now I expect I'll have to get new identity papers. Finally, I'll have the name Blaer in my passport."

Like a handful of other countries, including Germany and Denmark, Iceland has official rules about what a baby can be named.

Youth education the next step in avalanche safety

Expanded services dependant on dollars.

Education in remote mountain communities a priority for CAC

MATT KIELTYKA
Metro in Vancouver

Avalanche safety has come a long way since the lives of seven Calgary students were lost during an ill-fated field trip in British Columbia's backcountry 10 years ago today.

Fatality rates have stabilized in the face of increasing backcountry use, more people are getting properly trained and equipped before heading into the mountains, and public awareness is on the rise.

Those successes can be directly attributed to aggressive reform after the 2003 Connaught Creek avalanche, but the Canadian Avalanche Centre (CAC) is well aware more work could be done.

But that becomes a question of funding. And it's an unanswered question.

"It depends a lot on what people want us to do," said Karl Klassen, acting executive director of the CAC.

"If people are happy with our services the way they are, I think we're in good shape."

The CAC — which, among many other tasks, is responsible for public avalanche forecasting and sets the standards for public avalanche-training courses and equipment — has a projected budget of $1.8 million this year.

Its federal funding enters the final year of a three-year cycle in 2014 and then it's back to the negotiating table.

Klassen doesn't think securing funding to maintain the CAC's status quo will be a problem, but some (both within the CAC and outside) are asking whether that level of service goes far enough.

"There have been a number of calls to expand services," Klassen said.

"For example, we don't do forecasts for the north Rockies. We're working on a project to see how we can go about it, but it will take more money."

Klassen sees the centre focusing on three pillars in the

Ongoing process

Parks Canada strives to stay ahead of curve

Parks Canada is always working to be at the forefront of avalanche safety.

Mountain-risk specialist Grant Statham says fine-tuning and tailoring of public alerts, bulletins and information is an ongoing process.

"I would say what you see in the public domain today — we're a year or two ahead of that," said Statham. "At least, I hope so. We're always looking at how to better communicate with people. We want them to be better educated, that's the most important thing."

coming years: world-leading public avalanche information and bulletins, outreach and awareness programs and expanded youth education.

The third piece of that puzzle is perhaps the most critical going forward but is also underfunded.

"We'd love to expand youth education but we just don't have the resources for it," said Klassen. "There are many mountain communities, where avalanches are a fact of life, that just don't have much in the way of (avalanche) education."

He argues that children from kindergarten to Grade 8 in those communities must "be aware of the avalanche problem" and be taught skills that will serve them throughout life.

Even urban communities need greater youth education programs.

"Tons of people from Calgary go to the mountains every weekend," Klassen said. "(Education is) one of the cornerstones of what we should be doing, but unless we secure long-term additional funding we just can't do it."

It's an important decision that the CAC, and governments, will need to make over the next two years if Canada hopes to stay at the forefront of avalanche safety.

The role of instructors like Brent Hillier, pictured here at Seymour Provincial Park in B.C. on Jan. 20, is becoming crucial as the Canadian Avalanche Centre advocates more

Support group

Nearly 17 years ago, Beth Stewart got a phone call that no parent ever wants to get.

Her son Trevor Petersen, a legend in the world of extreme skiing, was killed at the height of his career in an avalanche in February 1996 in the mountains of Chamonix, France.

He was 34 and left behind his partner, Tanya, and his son, Kye, and daughter, Nève.

Petersen, the youngest of three, learned to love the mountains at an early age from his brothers, Lindsay and Rick. He skied the most treacherous mountains in the world and graced the covers of many international magazines.

"I felt that my world had fallen in and I was lost after Trevor died," she says. "I missed his spirit, his love of life, of the mountains and his family."

Stewart spent two years undergoing therapy to deal with that loss and wondered

Justin Trudeau champions backcountry safety after loss

Justin Trudeau knows too well that an avalanche doesn't pause to ask a person's last name when it barrels down a mountain.

The Liberal leadership contender lost his youngest brother, Michel, when an avalanche swept him into B.C.'s Kokanee Lake while he was backcountry skiing in 1998. He was 23.

In the wake of the tragedy, Trudeau and his family became a force in raising awareness and funds for Canada's avalanche-safety organizations.

"We said, 'Please don't send flowers, send a donation to —' and then we tried to figure out what the Canadian avalanche community was," Trudeau said in a phone interview from Prince George. "They needed support, and I got involved."

Trudeau worked with the Canadian Avalanche Association to secure stable funding from the B.C., Alberta and federal governments and to build the Canadian Avalanche Centre until he entered politics in 2006.

"For me it was an opportunity to get to know this amazing sport and to get to know this world so well that my brother loved so much. It got me closer to him and his memory," he said. "There's just an amazing group of people committed to our extraordinary wilderness and playing safe within it."

It took the Strathcona-Tweedsmuir School accident, where seven children on an outdoor-education trip died in a slide near B.C.'s Rogers Pass, he said, to change public perception toward avalanche awareness. He credits ski patrols, scientists and the backcountry community for putting Canada at the forefront of avalanche

Now, he says, it's important to turn toward structured avalanche education.

"We have a generation of people who are out there who are all about getting more extreme, getting more active, getting involved," he said, adding that better equipment has made the backcountry more accessible. "They need to be a little bit more aware so they can take smart risks."

No stranger to the backcountry himself — he lived and taught snowboarding in Whistler in 1997 — Trudeau understands the draw and the pure feeling of "earning your turns."

"It's not about preventing people from going out there; it's about giving them the tools and the knowledge to make sure they're doing it safely."

helps parents grieve

what she could do to help others.

She got together with five other moms who had lost sons and daughters on the mountains and formed a group called Parents of Lost Skiers (POLS) in 1998.

"My intention was to carry on his method, his way and his love of others by helping them as they go on through life," Stewart says.

Since then, Stewart has gotten thousands of phone calls and emails from parents all over the world eager to ask questions on how she survived and dealt with her grief.

A couple from Texas visited Stewart more than a year ago at her home in West Vancouver. Their son died on Mount Seymour in B.C. a few years ago.

POLS' mission

Parents of Lost Skiers' mission statement:

- "To help, encourage and support parents who have lost a child to the mountains and to support the safety and the education of young people who feel the call of the mountains."

"We had lunch and talked. We parted, and the husband came running to me and told me what POLS meant to them," Stewart says. "He told me his wife two weeks ago had everything ready to commit suicide. She didn't want to live if she couldn't be with her son."

Stewart had sent an email to the woman earlier, encouraging her to go day-by-day.

"She confessed to her husband that she's thrown all the stuff away and decided not to go through with it," she says. "She decided if one person can do it, then maybe she can do it."

Stewart says everything she does is a tribute to her son, who died doing what he loved best.

"He once said to me, 'Mom, if I should ever die doing this, know that I was exactly where I wanted to be, doing exactly what I wanted,'" she says. "But we all miss him."

HMV tweets its match over mass firings

Twitter outburst.
Verified account commandeered during layoff by music retailer

An employee apparently fired from music retailer HMV in the U.K. let loose on the company's Twitter feed Thursday, comparing the latest round of layoffs to a mass execution.

The rogue messages — which immediately attracted media attention — started with a missive saying "we're tweeting live from HR where we're all being fired! Exciting!" "There are over 60 of us being fired at once! Mass execution, of loyal employees who love the brand," another message said.

The person's identity wasn't clear but the Twitter messages came from the company's verified account, suggesting an employee was responsible.

In a statement, Deloitte, HMV's administrator, said that there had been 190 layoffs, most of them at the company's head office.

"Although such decisions are always difficult, it is a necessary step in restructuring

Deloitte didn't immediately return a message seeking comment about the online outbursts, although it appears

Retail pain. Sears lays off 700, Best Buy closes stores

Sears Canada announced Thursday it is laying off 700 workers across the country as part of a move to "right-size" the company and focus on restructuring its business.

The national retailer says 360 people are being laid off from its department stores and about 300 from its distribution centres. The remaining workers are being let go from head office and other support areas.

The job cuts will be across Canada.

Sears Canada has been revamping operations to encourage more customers to return to its stores after years of declining sales, and also to prepare for the entry of numerous U.S. retailers, including discount chain Target.

Earlier this month, Sears had announced it was teaming up with the Aldo Group to design and manufacture footwear lines for their Nevada, Attitude and Jessica brands.

The company has 195 corporate stores, 269 hometown dealer stores, eight home services show rooms and more than 1,500 merchandise pick-up locations.

Meanwhile, Best Buy Canada has closed eight Future Shop and seven Best Buy big-box stores across the country.

The company says as part of its "transformational plan" it will open Future Shop small-concept web stores and Best Buy Mobile locations across Canada in the next year and a half.

"This move will enable the company to better serve its customers in both more locations and smaller markets across the country," the company said in a release.

It adds the closures are part of its efforts to "reduce unnecessary costs, eliminate redundant operating systems and to optimize its real-estate strategy to reflect ... a changing retail landscape."

Some 900 employees will be laid off because of the closures, representing less than five per cent of Best Buy Canada's workforce, a spokeswoman said. THE CANADIAN PRESS

1 Game of Thrones. When Queen Beatrix of the Netherlands announced she would abdicate her throne in favour of her son, some expected Queen Elizabeth to do the same, but Lizzie ain't budging. Prince Charles is 64 and has been in line for the throne since he was three, the longest wait in British history. Instead, poor Charles is relegated to the mundane tasks of travelling the world, eating at ridiculously overpriced restaurants, and watching the ballet.

2 Beam me up. Russian astronauts aboard the International Space Station succeeded in transferring 400 megabytes of data to their ground station via laser communication channel for the first time in international practice. The breakthrough brings them one step closer to their eventual goal of downloading porn in space.

3 And speaking of porn. Adult-film star Ron Jeremy was left in critical condition this week following the discovery of a heart aneurysm that required surgery. I wish him the best and a speedy recovery, but I'm guessing the situation may have been brought on by repeated shifts in the flow of blood. Just sayin'.

4 Bowl busters. Super Bowl Sunday is looming and there has been more talk of Beyoncé lip-syncing than football. My position on this is best illustrated in the words of Steve Martin, who co-starred with the singer in the film The Pink Panther, when he says, "Stop badgering her. Can't you see she's sexy!?"

5 Why-arton? Groundhog Day is upon us once again. Obviously there is no better scientific system of climate prognostication than for a subterranean rodent to tell us how many weeks are left of winter, but we wacky, unconventional types like to wing it with a crazy little instrument known to our ancestors as a CALENDAR.

6 Superstition. This week in 1986, Diana Ross married Norwegian shipping magnate Arne Næss Jr. in Geneva. Stevie Wonder performed at the reception. The couple divorced in 2000, proving once again that Stevie's just bad luck.

7 Sexy brekkie. Let's face it, Canadians love cereal. And sex. Not necessarily at the same time (and probably not in that order). Well, now Peter Ehrlich, a former columnist and radio host, has burst onto the breakfast market with Sexcereal. The tasty health food is sweeping the nation with gender-specific nutrients that also promote sexual health, but beware not to mix up the bags. I missed a half-day of work because I couldn't decide which shoes to wear. Watch Dragons' Den on Feb. 10 to find out more.

8 Can't buy me love. What would Valentine's Day be if you couldn't buy yourself a date? Shannon Hunter's third annual Love A Heart bachelor/bachelorette auction will once again raise money for The Heart and Stroke Foundation. The event takes place at The Hideout in Toronto on Feb. 14, but guests from all over Canada are expected. Bachelors include Toronto Raptors host Kat Stefankiewicz, CBC's George Stroumboulopoulos, and some fine-looking unknowns. Come by to shop, or just to pimp a friend.

Waterfall makes circular rainbow

This stunning image shows an almost full-circle rainbow at Victoria Falls. The amazing picture was taken by amateur photographer Nicole Cambré on the Zambian side of this impressive natural spectacle.

Cambré, a 42-year-old lawyer from Brussels, captured the shot from Livingstone Island, which is on the edge of the falls.

METRO

Photographer's viewpoint

"Capturing the rainbow over the falls was more challenging than I thought, especially with the spray. On Livingstone Island on top of the falls I finally managed to capture this full rainbow."

Nicole Cambré

Full-circle phenomenon

The lower the sun, the higher the bow

It's very rare to see a full-circle rainbow; the bottom is usually blocked by one's horizon.

The sun's height determines how much of an arc you see; the lower the sun, the higher the top of the rainbow. Some rainbows continue even below the horizon. Mountain climbers see more of a full-circle, while pilots have reported seeing genuine full-circle rainbows. METRO

Rainbow by moonlight

Don't need sun to make a rainbow

Victoria Falls is also famous for its "moonbows," or lunar rainbows.

Moonlight shines on the water, and while it is hard for the human eye to detect it, the bow's colours will appear in long-exposure photographs.

The moonbows are rare because a number of conditions are required: The moon must be lower than 42 degrees in a very dark sky. METRO

CROUSE AND
MARK BRESLIN

The day the music died

Feb. 3, 1959. The Reel Guys remember Buddy Holly, Ritchie Valens and The Big Bopper with movie picks that pay tribute to their legacies

Richard: Mark, Buddy Holly was arguably the biggest star of the three musicians, so it's no surprise that he pops up in the most movies. Gary Busey is the most famous of the Holly impersonators, having been nominated for an Oscar for The Buddy Holly Story, but others have also donned the black rims to good effect. An unknown actor named Guy Kent raved on in a surreal retelling of Buddy's life called The Day the Music Died. Less successful was Frankie Muniz who should have been (Peggy) sued for his performance in Walk Hard: The Dewey Cox Story.

Mark: Buddy Holly was surely the genius of the three. And I think The Buddy Holly Story did him justice. It was Gary Busey's last significant lead, and I think it's ironic that the madman actor played one of the few levelheaded stars of rock 'n' roll. La Bamba is a step down in rock biopics. Valens only had a nine-month career, and you can feel the story padding in the film. But worst of all was the sentimental ending with his brother blubbering on about the loss. Again, it was Lou Diamond Phillips' last significant lead before he became the straight-to-video champ.

RC: He may not be the biggest box office draw, but anyone who watched Celebrity Cook Off knows he's a helluva chef. I regard his homemade Wild Turkey Bourbon Barbecue Sauce as highly as his work in Young Guns or Stand and Deliver. But back to the movies. I liked La Bamba more than you, even though Phillips was way too old to play the 18-year-old singer. Most of it is Hollywood hokum, but the music by Los Lobos is good! Maybe you'd enjoy Lives and Deaths of the Poets more. It's a collection of short skits about famous writers and musicians, including Valens.

MB: You'll notice no one is rushing to make The Big Bopper biopic. But here's a guy who would have been a footnote in rock history except that he got on that ill-fated plane, forever linking him in our minds with the great Buddy Holly. Bad life choice for the Bopper, but ultimately a good career move.

RC: I think his life would make a good movie. He was a colourful character — a singer, a flamboyant DJ who wrote some big hits for other people. If they can make a film about payola king Alan Freed they could certainly find enough material for a Big Bopper biopic.

MB: I suspect the Freed movie, American Hot Wax, was as much about the art-

Synopsis

For music fans of a certain age, Feb. 3 is a day to observe a moment of silence. Known as the day the music died, it's the day, in 1959, when a small plane crashed outside Clear Lake, Iowa, killing rock 'n' rollers Buddy Holly, Ritchie Valens and JP "The Big Bopper" Richardson.

Romantic Comedy

Warm Bodies

Director. Jonathan Levine

Stars. Nicholas Hoult, Teresa Palmer

Warm Bodies doesn't stink nearly as much as I imagine its leading character would. A rom-com set in an apocalyptic near-future ruled by rambling rotten corpses, the film focuses on a love-lorn zombie crushing on a gorgeous living girl. Basically a spin on Romeo and Juliet (if Romeo were dead, that is), the comedy has youthful quirk and charm, but its modesty will likely aggravate purists looking for cinematic zombie gore.

STEVE GOW

Historical Drama

A Royal Affair

Director. Nikolaj Arcel

Stars. Mads Mikkelsen, Alicia Vikander

Sumptuously designed and as thrilling as any contemporary Hollywood film, the Danish A Royal Affair — nominated for an Oscar for Best Foreign Film — is superlative filmmaking. In it, Mads Mikkelsen stars as Struensee, an enlightened country doctor circa late-1700s Denmark who is enlisted to be the soft-headed boy-king Christian IV's personal physician. Soon, Struensee is changing the church-run system from within, becoming a father figure to the king while engaging in a passionate affair with the lonely queen.

CHRIS ALEXANDER

Comedy

Stand Up Guys

Director. Fisher Stevens

Stars. Al Pacino, Alan Arkin, Christopher Walken

This story of three old hoodlums on one last adventure is slightly less than the sum of its parts. Combined, the leads — Al Pacino, Alan Arkin and Christopher Walken — bring with them more than a century of screen work, and it shows. It's too bad, then, that the material contains Viagra jokes that would seem more appropriate in a Grumpy Old Men movie. That and the long shadow of Tarantino that blankets almost every scene leaves the film feeling less than original despite the engaging performances.

RICHARD CROUSE

Zombies vs. vampires

"I understand parallels have been drawn because there's a mystical element to the relationships in both of these films. I think tonally it's very different — Warm Bodies to Twilight. There's a lot of comedy, we don't take ourselves too seriously. But having said that, we of course embrace comparisons in a sense because Twilight is a hugely successful franchise and if we can find half the audience that Twilight has I think we'd be very happy."

Teresa Palmer, during a recent interview in Toronto, when asked if people would compare Warm Bodies to Twilight

Argo goes from long shot to Oscar favourite

Movies. Argo to compete with two other pieces from American history: Lincoln and Zero Dark Thirty

Some years, Academy Awards voters just want to feel right about themselves, their industry, their country. And maybe honour one of their own who hasn't always shared in the love of his peers.

That could explain why Ben Affleck's Argo has gone from best-picture long shot to Oscar favourite over such competitors as Steven Spielberg's stately but talky Civil War portrait Lincoln or Kathryn Bigelow's brilliant yet contentious CIA thriller Zero Dark Thirty.

Argo is a feel-good thrill ride that's patriotic enough to warrant a good "USA! USA!" chant as the credits roll. It's all about how Hollywood helped save some lives. And a best-picture win could be viewed as righting a wrong after Affleck inexplicably missed out on a best-director nomination.

"There's a surge to embrace Ben Affleck in the aftermath of his Oscar snub. It seems like such an outrage that his film is benefiting from it as a result," said Tom O'Neil, who runs the awards website GoldDerby.com. "It really is a pro-Argo movement more than it is a kind of shrug off of Lincoln or a disparagement of Zero Dark Thirty. Hollywood is rallying around one of their wounded own."

Argo is one of three true-life best-picture nominees steeped in different eras of U.S. history. Spielberg's Lincoln, which leads the Oscars with 12 nominations and looked like the front-runner until Argo began winning top honours at other awards shows, is a towering study of Abraham Lincoln as he manoeuvres to end the war and pass the 13th Amendment abolishing slavery. Argo tells of a little-known victory amid an otherwise enervating chapter in American foreign affairs during the Iran hostage crisis. Bigelow's Zero Dark Thirty is a sombre story of this last dark decade as the CIA builds leads that result in the Navy SEALs raid that killed Osama bin Laden.

In their way, all three are stories of American triumph, but told with wildly divergent tones. Lincoln is a saga of hope amid national tragedy, meticulously researched but a little emotionally remote because of its attention to Washington deal-making, 1860s-style. Zero

Ben Affleck accepts an award at the 19th Annual Screen Actors Guild Awards in Los Angeles on Jan. 27.
JOHN SHEARER/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS/INVISION

Dark Thirty is a bleak tale of uncertain patriotism, also meticulously researched but at times more than a little emotionally repugnant because of the questionable means it depicts in a righteous cause. Argo is the one that turns triumph into an end-zone dance. Affleck has taken knocks in the past over his acting, but in only his third film as director, he shows complete mastery of populist movie-making. He gives viewers great drama, great laughs, agonizing tension and an exultant finale, all while playing loose with the facts in a way audiences can forgive in the name of a terrific piece of entertainment.

Jason Bateman is getting used to playing the straight-man role in comedy projects. HANDOUT

Jason Bateman puts on a familiar Identity

Interview. Arrested Development star talks about the move to Netflix and his new comedy project Identity Thief

Metro World News

Being the straight man in a comedy can be a thankless job, but Jason Bateman has no problem with that. His latest, Identity Thief, finds him taking on Melissa McCarthy's titular con woman. Plus, this spring he gets to reprise his best-loved straight man role, as put-upon Michael Bluth in Arrested Development, when the cult hit returns with new episodes on Netflix. Still, if you've got a more outlandish comedy role in mind, he's willing to listen.

Do you find it at all insulting to be asked how hard it is to keep a straight face opposite someone like Melissa McCarthy?

No, actually, I've never taken it that way. That's tough to do, and I fail miserably at it repeatedly, especially with Melissa. You've just got to have the camera on her alone so that when I start laughing you don't see my shoulders bouncing up and down in the foreground.

You've made quite a career of playing the straight man, but have you been looking for parts beyond that type?

Yeah, I mean I would enjoy doing that. Send them. I'll read them and do them. But I get most of my opportunities doing what people have seen me do before, and I don't think that's too dissimilar from most actors. You kind of get offered what people expect to see you in. So it's up to me to start to steer the ship in another direction if I want some changes. And I do, every once in a while. That was one of the things that really attracted me to a film I did with Ryan Reynolds called the Change-Up. It didn't really work at the box office or critically, but we had a really good time doing it.

Jason Bateman
Talking about his time on Identity Thief.

Was it Melissa or writer Craig Mazin who kept adding in jokes about you having mangled junk in Identity Thief?

Well, Craig's pretty filthy. Craig wrote a script that didn't need any ad-libbing whatsoever to make it funny, and so we didn't do a lot of that. We would every once in a while make stuff up to crack each other up and make the crew laugh, but this isn't one of those movies where it's, 'Boy, thank God those actors improvised because otherwise it wouldn't be funny.' Craig Mazin did a really, really good job.

So he's the one obsessed with you having messed-up junk?

He loves my junk. Or he loves my messed-up junk. He wants bad things to happen to it because I won't give it to him.

True or false: You are the only Bluth family member to appear in each of the new episodes of Arrested Development.

I believe that is true. I haven't seen them, he's still editing them, but that was the goal when Mitch (Hurwitz) and I talked about these episodes early on. There was a question as to whether the finances or the scheduling would allow for all of us to be in every episode, and I said, 'Whatever it takes schedule-wise or finance-wise, I'm your guy.' So we worked it out and we just made sure that I was done with all of my duties before I had to go off and do something else.

Any word on returning guest stars?

I think Mitch has already said that a few people are coming back. I think he's mentioned Carl Weathers and Henry Winkler and ... who else did he mention? James Lipton and Andy Richter. There's many more. And then his ideas for the movie are just insane. So hopefully Act II and Act III will happen, which is the movie. I can't wait to see what he does with all this footage. We still have a little bit of additional stuff to do. I work one more day on it in a week or two.

Cast of 30 Rock faced tearful ending

Jane Krakowski won't be stealing anything from the 30 Rock set. GETTY IMAGES

Finale. Jane Krakowski talks to Metro about the final episode and saying goodbye

MEREDITH ENGEL

Metro World News in New York

When we met up with Jane Krakowski at a Bank of America event over the holidays, the star — who plays the excitable Jenna Maroney on 30 Rock — had just four days of filming left on the NBC sitcom. She filled us in on those final days on set.

Her final table read wasn't easy

It was tearful. Everyone was a little choked up because we actually acknowledge the show within the show ending, so it kind of brought it all home for us. We'd kind of been living like, 'Yeah, I guess it's gonna end in a few episodes,' and suddenly we're here. But I think the writers did a great job finishing the characters the way you want them to, and, of course, in true 30 Rock wacky style.

Could her character get any wackier?

(Laughs) I don't know if that's even possible, but I am going to miss playing her. I mean, she's so over-the-top and high above the line of reality. I'm gonna miss it.

Why ending the show is so bittersweet

I think it's a mixed bag of emotions. I'm excited to see what's next. I'm going to miss everybody terribly. It's just been such a great group of people, and I think that everyone on the show knows that this is as good as it gets. I think we're all really proud of what we made and that we've made it on the air this long — it's a lot longer than we expected.

What she's taking from the set

It's funny, because of course you want to have some memento of the seven years — but I like to say stealing is a crime and I will not be partaking in any of that. There are numerous Jenna posters I could take, but I don't really need those in my home — large pictures of myself. I think Tina's taking the sign that says The Girlie Show before it was named TGS that Jenna destroyed by throwing something at, so it's kind of broken and she's taking it as it is. I don't know. I'll certainly take away all my good memories.

Why Ice-T popped up in the finale

There is a Law & Order reference. I think he plays his Law & Order character. Coco was there — I think Coco's always with him. They're a sweet couple. Everyone on the set was very excited that Coco came, too.

How she's saying goodbye

It's going to be hard. There's about 300 people who work on our show, and so to say goodbye to each and every one of them — there will be days when you're walking on set and pass someone and you get really emotional. You think, 'Oh, I didn't realize, I'm gonna miss that guy' — those people that you see every single day.

The secret behind Nevermind

Movie. Dave Grohl's movie, Sound City, takes a particular interest in the studio where Nirvana found their break

Rock musician Dave Grohl set out to make a recording studio the subject of his first-ever film. He was intrigued not only by the studio but by a specific piece of recording equipment — a 1970s era sound board — that captured every note of music made there.

Geek city, right? It sounds like an idea any sane moviegoer would run from.

Instead, Sound City offers a colourful piece of music history, a candid examination of changes wrought by technology and a defiant statement about not surrendering the human element in creativity. Grohl's rookie film, which made it to the Sundance movie festival, is being released theatrically Friday and is accompanied by an album featuring artists he interviewed.

"It honestly was more like a keg party with a camera than making a Hollywood film," he said.

Grohl knew nothing about the Sound City studio in Van Nuys, Calif., when he and fellow Nirvana members Kurt Cobain and Krist Novoselic booked a session to make Nevermind in 1991. Their California record company wanted Nirvana nearby to keep an eye on them and time at Sound City was cheap.

It was in a nondescript neighbourhood and looked like a dump, with tired shag carpeting. Then Nirvana noticed all the gold records on the wall from artists who had recorded there: Fleetwood Mac, Tom Petty, Van Halen, REO Speedwagon, Guns 'n Roses, Neil Young, Cheap Trick, Slayer, Rick Springfield and more.

After plugging in their instruments and running through In Bloom, Grohl and his mates discovered why. The sound, to their ears, was amazing. Nirvana had never been captured with such clarity and power before.

"You might have never heard of Nirvana if we had recorded in Hollywood with a fancy producer who made us sound like Def Leppard," he said. "The fact that that [sound] board made us sound like us is what people appreciated. To be reunited with it, honestly, it was like meeting your real parents for the first time."

The cast of How I Met Your Mother, which includes Neil Patrick Harris and Cobie Smulders, will say goodbye after the show's ninth season. HANDOUT

We'll finally know how he met your mother

CBS says the big reveal is coming for How I Met Your Mother.

The network said Wednesday the sitcom will air its ninth and final season next fall.

And CBS Entertainment President Nina Tassler

promised that TV's "most mysterious mother" will be unveiled as the show wraps up.

That would be the mystery woman with whom Ted, played by Josh Radnor, ultimately has a family.

The sitcom's cast also includes Neil Patrick Harris, Cobie Smulders, Jason Segel and Alyson Hannigan.

20th Century Fox Television says all the actors will return for the 2013-14 season. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

He may be Cross, but he's no grump

Police drama. CTV's new series turns the cop role upside down and shows the softer side of the boys in blue

scene@metronews.ca

Nowadays, Roger Cross is working three times as much, and he couldn't be happier. Besides playing the time-travelling terrorist Travis Verta in the sci-fi series Continuum, he's also helping uphold law and order as Det. Lucas Hilton in Arrow.

Completing this acting triumvirate is Cross's upcoming role of Staff Sgt. Boyd Bloom in CTV's new police procedural drama Motive. This particular character is quite a contrast to either Travis or Hilton and unlike any of the actor's previous roles.

"Boyd is a career cop who was injured on the job," says Cross. "My character was once the 'action hero' out there fighting crime — much like the detectives now under his command — until he got shot and wound up basically behind a desk."

"Of course, there's some regret and remorse on Boyd's part, but at the same time he's a family man who loves his life and job. That said, Boyd still sometimes wishes that he was out there in the field."

"When I initially discussed my character with Motive's producers and writers, I explained that I didn't want him to be this grumpy, gloomy type of guy. They told me, 'Don't worry, we'll find places to throw in some humour and lightness.' As bitter as the grumpy characters might be, they're also sometimes the funniest. However, in this case I wanted to find a balance with Boyd and make sure he is likable and sympathetic."

It was Bloom who paired up the show's heroine, Det. Angie Flynn (Kristin Lehman), with her partner, Oscar Vega (Louis Ferreira), and he had good reason for doing so.

"Boyd pretty much needs someone to reel Angie in. She's a great detective, but lacks tact and isn't the sweetest of individuals," notes Cross.

"Angie is in your face and doesn't worry about consequences. All that matters to her is catching the bad guys. Vega is a great detective, too, but he knows there are diplomatic ways of doing things. He and Angie are both quirky in their own right, but my character realizes what they can accomplish together."

Speaking of quirks, Continuum's Travis Verta has one or two, while over on Arrow, Det. Hilton is dealing with a hooded superhero who also has some issues of his own.

"The question is, does the greater good outweigh the legality of what Arrow (Stephen Amell) is doing?" muses Cross. "It's an interesting line to tow and one that will probably get a little more blurred as the show goes on."

Big break leads producer to fun.

When music producer Jeff Bhasker — the mastermind behind fun.'s breakthrough — had thoughts of becoming a musician, the high school student in the jazz band figured he would play keyboard for a talented singer looking to carve a space in the musical universe.

"In the jazz world you become a side man, say with Miles Davis. You become Miles Davis' keyboard player and then you learn from Miles, and then you have your own group," he explained.

The eager musician was hoping to have a breakthrough like Herbie Hancock did with Davis. And Bhasker did — but with Kanye West.

The Berklee College of Music graduate began playing piano for the multi-platinum rapper in 2008. And then he became West's musical director. And then the two went into the recording studio.

"I learned so much from being around that moment and grabbing on to the rocket. It happened really fast," said Bhasker, who produced several tracks on West's albums, 808's & Heartbreak and My Beautiful Dark Twisted Fantasy.

And in between those West records, Bhasker's name — and drum-filled sound — popped up on credible liner notes: He produced for Alicia Keys. And Jay-Z. And Beyoncé. And Bruno Mars.

And now the producer is really having fun — thanks to the band, fun.

Crafting anthemic jams like We Are Young and Some Nights for the New York-based trio — who released their underwhelming debut in 2009 — not only made fun. a household name, it made Bhasker even bigger. Now the hitmaker is nominated for four Grammy Awards, including non-classical producer of the year and album of the year for helming all 11 tracks on fun.'s sophomore release, Some Nights.

"First and foremost, it's about hearing for him. He's not out to make a quick buck," said Nate Ruess, the lead singer of fun. "You meet a lot of producers, especially in the pop world, where they don't have any emotional attachment to the music. I've even sat in, like, writing sessions with people where it's just lifeless, and Jeff is the exact opposite. He brings emotion. He only wants to do things that move him."

The Grammys stage isn't unfamiliar to Bhasker — he's already won two trophies for best rap song in 2009 and 2011 for co-writing Jay-Z's Run This Town and West's All of the Lights. This year, he's also nominated for record and song of the year for his work on fun.'s No. 1 hit We

Are Young. The band earned six nominations — including best new artist — and are tied for most nominations at the Feb. 10 awards show.

"The whole time we were making the album I really, every day I was saying, 'We're making album of the year,'" Bhasker said of producing Some Nights.

Ruess said he recruited Bhasker to executive produce his band's entire album because of the producer's impressive resumé and style. Bhasker helped usher in West's Auto-Tune-flavoured, melodic and synth-pop sound in 2008, co-producing songs like Love Lockdown and Paranoid. Months after fun. released its album, Taylor Swift worked with Bhasker on two songs for her bestselling Red album, which takes the singer even further from her country roots to pop domination.

Oh, and the Rolling Stones called Bhasker, too.

"It's so tricky because you don't want to mess with the Rolling Stones and the essence of what they do," said Bhasker, who produced "radio mixes" of the band's new jams, Doom and Gloom and One More Shot. "But I tried to bring a little bit of a contemporary twist to it."

Super Bowl colliding with Mardi Gras vibe makes for a big party

Music. Numerous parties, concerts and events make festivities around the big game as much of an attraction as anything

The entertainment leading up to the Super Bowl is so A-list, Beyoncé may not even have the most anticipated performance surrounding the big game. Justin Timberlake is due to give his first major musical performance in years. Stevie Wonder is performing for the masses at an outdoor concert. Cee Lo Green is reuniting with his old hip-hop clique, Goodie Mob, and Rascal Flatts is teaming up with Journey for a concert. Those represent only a fraction of the all-star events to celebrate the Super Bowl.

Justin Timberlake returns to the stage at the Super Bowl for the first time in years. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"The Super Bowl has become such a big event in itself. So many people come from everywhere, looking to not only be a part of the Super Bowl but also the festivities leading up to the game," said Cee Lo, who is performing at ESPN's Next event. "There's so much to do, from parties, concerts and events."

Lil Wayne is throwing a major bash in his hometown. Jay-Z is holding court at another event the evening before his wife, Beyoncé, performs at halftime, and Jamie Foxx is due to give a private concert.

Lo and behold, Lindsay makes it to court

Lindsay Lohan wasn't too sick to fly after all. Despite reportedly being too under the weather to make it from New York back to L.A. this week for a Wednesday court date, the troubled actress showed up after all, wearing a little black dress and Louboutin heels, according to the Associated Press. "I'm glad to see you're feeling better," Judge Stephanie Sautner told Lohan at the hearing. Lohan pleaded not guilty to three misdemeanor counts stemming from a car crash last summer. If found guilty, she could face 245 days in jail because of probation violations. "She's on probation," Sautner said at the hearing. "The condition is that she obey all laws."

Sheen still on starlet's side

At least Charlie Sheen isn't worried about Lindsay Lohan's legal troubles. "She's terrific," he tells Jay Leno in an interview. "I mean she's going through a lot of stuff, but she's smart and super-talented and will come out on top eventually, you know." As for the $100,000 Sheen loaned the troubled actress — money she reportedly put toward her massive tax bill — Sheen says, "I didn't know it was for taxes. If I had known that, I'd have given her half, you know."

John Mayer is definitely mellowing when it comes to dealing with paparazzi. "The way that the media plays a part in everyone's life has changed over the last several years," he tells

Tip for Jennifer Lawrence: no more shopping trips now that you're famous

Oscar-nominee Jennifer Lawrence recently told Metro that her Silver Linings Playbook co-star Bradley Cooper had taught her that she can't go to the grocery store anymore now that she's famous. "It's fine, I can get friends to get my groceries," she said last month.

But apparently Lawrence thought the height of awards season was a good time to try again, as she was spotted this week at a Los Angeles supermarket, buying groceries incognito under a large purple hat and a massive scarf, according to photo agency X-17.

Liquid Assets

Wash down game snacks

LIQUID ASSETS
Peter Rockwell
@therealwineguy
liquidassets@eastlink.ca

When it comes to pairing liquids with solids, wine has the edge over its boozy competition. After all, you're not going to wash down haute cuisine with a brewski. Right?

It really depends on where you are.

In wine engaged cultures (like France and Italy), culinary artists evolved their industry in parallel with their compatriots in nearby vineyards. So, it makes sense that locals reach for vino when they put on the feed bag.

Countries like the United Kingdom and Belgium — where wine production is nearly non-existent — have a closer affinity to beer, which makes a good brew their primary dinner table mate.

Since the Super Bowl is this Sunday, I'm betting most of you will be serving pub-inspired fare and drinking like the Brits as you watch the game.

Not that you can't serve wine (think something white and off dry). It's just that aggressively flavoured finger food, the likes of Buffalo Chicken Tenders and Short Ribs, calls for something cool and thirst-quenching. While a crisp Euro or Canadian lager fits the bill, I prefer medium-bodied, lightly malted ales like Newcastle Brown Ale (500 ml, $2.90 to $3.49) from England's north east.

Bite into lighter side of Super Bowl staple

Buffalo Chicken Tenders. Put aside the deep fryer and pop these crunchy snacks into the oven

The key food groups of Super Bowl are meat and melted cheese, preferably deep-fried. Buffalo-style chicken wings and chicken nuggets are just the sort of deep-fried deliciousness we're talking about. And this recipe marries the two, incredibly, in a way that satisfies the soul and keeps blood whistling through the old arteries.

The chicken is luxuriated in a buttermilk bath for several hours, after which it is coated with a mixture of breadcrumbs and panko (for extra crunch), and baked in the oven.

It's not quite as crispy as a deep-fried version, but it is nonetheless ridiculously flavourful. This effect is achieved by adding a blue cheese dipping sauce, which borrows one of the trademark ingredients of Buffalo chicken wings. Traditionally, wings are tossed in a mix of hot sauce and butter after they come out of hot oil. But you don't want to sog up your finished product,

Ingredients

- 2 garlic cloves, smashed
- 1 tsp salt
- 1/4 cup plus 2 tbsp hot sauce,
- 2 cups plus 6 tbsp buttermilk,
- 1 lb chicken tenders (or chicken breasts cut into 3-by-1-inch strips, 1/2-inch thick)
- 3/4 cup whole-wheat Italian seasoned breadcrumbs
- 1/4 cup panko breadcrumbs
- 1/4 cup low-fat mayonnaise
- 1/4 cup crumbled blue cheese
- 1/2 tsp lemon juice

This recipe serves four. MATTHEW MEAD/ THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

so dip the finished tenders, first in the hot sauce then in the blue cheese. It's a touchdown.

1. In bowl, combine garlic, salt, 2 tablespoons of hot sauce and 2 cups of the buttermilk. Whisk until salt dissolves. Add chicken tenders and stir to coat well with the marinade. Cover and refrigerate for at least 2 hours and up to 10 hours.

2. When ready to cook, heat oven to 425 F. Line baking sheet with parchment paper and spray it with olive oil cooking spray.

3. In shallow bowl combine whole-wheat and panko breadcrumbs. In another small bowl, whisk remaining 6 tablespoons of buttermilk, the mayonnaise, blue cheese and lemon juice. Transfer to ramekin for dipping. Pour remaining 1/4 cup of hot sauce into a second ramekin for dipping.

4. Use colander to drain chicken, but do not pat it dry.

Dip each chicken piece in the breadcrumb mixture, making sure it is coated well on both sides. Arrange chicken in single layer on prepared baking sheet, then spritz tops with olive oil cooking spray.

5. Bake on oven's middle shelf for 10 minutes. Turn chicken pieces over and bake an additional 5 minutes, or until just cooked through. Let cool few minutes, then transfer to a platter. Serve with both dipping sauces. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BLACK HISTORY: THEN AND NOW

ANNUAL TD SERIES SHOWCASES CANADIAN TALENT

The contributions of black artists and communities in Canada have made this country a stronger, culturally richer place. Starting this month, you can discover your own connection to Canadian black history and culture through the TD Then and Now Black History Series.

Held annually, TD Then and Now showcases some of the brightest talents on the Canadian artistic and cultural scene. The work of these individual artists, together with contributions from cultural organizations, and even large cultural institutions, gives all Canadians a glimpse of the range, variety, and virtuosity of black artists in Canada today. It also celebrates the past. Through TD Then and Now, you can discover how black artists, writers, activists and everyday people helped shape the Canadian heritage we all now share.

February is, of course, Black History Month: First recognized by the House of Commons in 1995, following a motion introduced by the Hon. Jean Augustine, the first black Canadian woman elected to Parliament. Black History Month celebrates the achievements, past and present of the Canadian black community; now the third-largest visible minority community in Canada, with a population of more than 750,000. This population enjoyed 18 per cent growth between 2001 and 2006, due in part to an influx of new immigrants — each group bringing with it new art forms, cultural traditions and perspectives that enrich not only black communities, but all Canadians.

Most of TD Then and Now's events take place during Black History Month. It holds events in four Canadian cities: Halifax, Montreal, Ottawa, and Toronto. To learn more about events near you, visit blackartndialog.com.

TD Then and Now is produced by Black Artists' Networks Dialogue

VISIT CULTURAL AMBIGUITY EXHIBIT

TD Then and Now's series of Ottawa events showcases some of Canada's top artistic talent.

The Cultural Ambiguity Exhibition is one of them. Running Feb. 1-28 at the Fritz Gallery GCTC, this free, contemporary art exhibition features the works of three local artists: Chikonzero Chazunguza; Allen Andre; and Elbagir Osman. A blend of both African and Caribbean influences, the paintings and prints in this exhibition explore the meanings of identity and culture, and the various ways they can be represented.

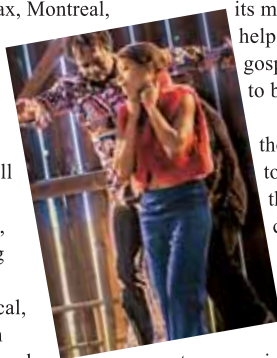

Be sure to check out these events (and many more) in your area.

For more, see blackartndialog.com.

MULTIPLE EVENTS TO CHECK OUT NEAR YOU

TD Then and Now will be hosting multiple events in Halifax, Montreal, Ottawa, and Toronto this February and early March. Here are a few of the highlights:

The Charles Taylor Hall Theatre Society will perform its production of Dreamgirls Feb. 1-2, at the Alderney Landing Theatre, in Dartmouth, N.S. This popular musical, set in the 1960s through 1980s, details the trials and triumphs of a trio of young, black, female singers, who achieve superstardom through an amateur singing competition. This Canadian staging features a concert piece, alongside play excerpts, and boasts the talents of five professional artists and 10 emerging, established, and community-based artists. Blending its moving story with a generous helping of soul, Motown and gospel music, this show is sure to be a crowd pleaser.

Events in Montreal include the Afrophyllia concert series, to be held Feb. 6-28. Now in its third year, this concert series celebrates the worldwide artistic and cultural contributions of people of African descent. Afrophyllia 2013 opens with a special concert dedicated to reggae icon Bob Marley (born Feb. 6) by Montreal-based roots reggae band, Inword.

Montrealers will also enjoy the February Festival, a series of multidisciplinary presentations featuring music, conferences, workshops, and discussion. The festival, running Feb. 1-28, will focus on identity issues within Canadian black communities. This year's guest speakers include Angela Davis, Jenny Salgado, and former governor general Michaëlle Jean.

From Feb. 4-9, Arc-En-Ciel d'Afrique will present Massimadi, its Montreal festival of Afro-Caribbean lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgendered (LGBT) films and documentaries. Now in its fifth year, the festival will include a dozen film screenings, two conferences, a visual arts exhibition, and other special events designed to demystify homosexuality and transexuality within Montreal's black communities.

Acclaimed recording artist Molly Johnson will take the stage at the National Arts Centre in Ottawa on March 8. Equally adept in the pop music, jazz, and blues genres, the Toronto-born, Juno Award-winning Johnson has won fans the world over, while confirming her place as one of Canada's preeminent performance artists.

Meanwhile, in Toronto, photojournalist Lesia Bailey will join forces with the Fourth Eye Gallery and Helping Hands International to present The Visual Evolution of Dancehall Culture Within Toronto. Open Feb. 1-16, this solo photography exhibition chronicles the evolution of this city's distinctive Dancehall culture, covering everything from basement parties to international arena shows.

TD Then and Now celebrates black Canadian history and culture with programming both educational and entertaining. If you are an artist, or a member of a cultural organization, and you wish to be part of next year's Then and Now, look for the 2014 application form at blackartndialog.com. You will find yourself in good company.

Then is a time to remember.
Now is a time to celebrate.

Celebrate Black History Month with the TD Then and Now Series.

Be inspired, entertained and wowed by an incredible lineup of Black artists from across Canada and around the world. This year's series offers a remarkable range of films, concerts, fashion, exhibits, and theatre. There's something inspiring around every corner and for everyone. Let the celebration begin. Although he scored a shootout goal in the Senators' loss to the Penguins, centre Jason Spezza's recurring back problems flared up during Sunday's game and he will undergo surgery on a herniated disc on Friday in Toronto. JANA CHYTILOVA/FREESTYLE PHOTOGRAPHY/GETTY IMAGES

Back woes send Spezza to surgery

NHL. Star forward and organization 'devastated,' but club still hopes puck wizard will return this season

The Ottawa Senators will have to try and build on their impressive start without one of their star forwards.

Jason Spezza will undergo surgery Friday in Toronto for a herniated disc and will be out for the foreseeable future.

Senators general manager Bryan Murray told reporters Thursday that it's too early to provide a timeline for Spezza's return, but the team is hopeful that he'll be able to play again this season.

Spezza had felt some slight discomfort through training camp, but the pain was manageable. Things took a turn for the worse in Sunday's 2-1 shootout loss to Pittsburgh.

"He doesn't know the individual incident that happened," said Murray. "He went into the shootout and scored, but he said he was being bothered at that time."

Spezza was assessed by Ottawa doctors and received a second opinion before choosing to have surgery.

The Senators believe surgery is in Spezza's best interest.

"You could probably take days off and play a game here and there," said Murray. "But that doesn't make any sense for him or us, so getting it done and hopefully getting it cleaned up will allow him to come back 100 per cent and continue his career."

Doctors have told Murray that the procedure isn't that complicated, but in Murray's opinion any surgery is "major."

It appears the procedure is somewhat similar to the surgery Daniel Alfredsson had following the 2010-11 season.

Back issues have plagued

Spezza, 29, throughout his career, and Murray said Spezza was clearly devastated at the recent turn of events.

Spezza had surgery following the 2006 season, but continued to miss games the following season due to recurring back pain. Spezza has had ongoing treatment to deal with flare-ups.

Last season, Spezza scored 34 goals and added 50 assists for 84 points in 80 games. He has two goals and three assists in five games this season.

"Like us, he's devastated," Murray said of Spezza's reaction to the news. "We all know the importance of Jason and what he brings to the table here as well. For him, and a young man coming off a great year, he was hoping to build on that."

The loss will leave a huge hole at centre for the Senators, but Murray is hopeful the team will be able to fill the gap internally.

"You can't replace high-end skill very easily," Murray admitted. "It's a big loss. The fortunate thing for us is we do have some people that play very hard on this team.... We have a group that will compete hard and hopefully we'll make our way through a busy time, a busy schedule and continue to compete at the level, but we don't pretend we can replace that skill level."

Murray hasn't ruled out making a trade, but it's likely they will look internally in the short term.

"Our group is strong here, the coaches have done a real good job, the leadership core with Alfie and them is outstanding and we just have to make due and hope the group we have will continue to play hard."

Entering play Thursday night, Ottawa (5-1-1) and Boston shared top spot in the Eastern Conference standings with 11 points apiece.

Moore succumbs to injuries after snowmobile crash

Caleb Moore, an innovative freestyle snowmobile rider who was hurt in a crash at the Winter X Games in Colorado, died Thursday morning. He was 25.

Moore was being treated at a hospital in Grand Junction since the Jan. 24 crash. Family spokeswoman Chelsea Lawson confirmed his death, the first in the 18-year history of the X Games.

"He lived his life to the fullest. He was an inspiration," Lawson said.

Moore was attempting a backflip when his snowmobile caught the lip of the landing area, sending him over the handlebars. He landed face first in the snow with his snowmobile rolling over him.

Moore eventually walked off with help and went to hospital with a concussion. He developed bleeding around his heart and was flown to Grand Junction for surgery. The family later said that Moore also had a complication involving his brain.

Becks gives back after signing in Paris

David Beckham pledged to donate his salary to a children's charity Thursday after signing a five-month contract with Paris-Saint Germain, the latest stop on his globe-trotting career.

The 37-year-old former England captain joined PSG after turning down several other offers and pledging to effectively play for free. No financial details were given as to how much Beckham's salary would be or the name of the charity. The decision was taken early Thursday morning.

"It's something we (decided) together, it's one of the things we talked about from the start. But this all happened so quick," Beckham said. "I thought what a great idea it would be, that the salary would go to a children's charity in Paris." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Super Bowl preview.

Both Ravens and 49ers, led by sibling head coaches, ready to battle in New Orleans

The San Francisco 49ers never have tasted defeat in a Super Bowl, going 5-0. It's the most impressive mark for any franchise in the big game.

Baltimore also is undefeated, with the Ravens winning their only appearance, in 2001.

Someone will have the Super Bowl blabs for the first time after Sunday's title game in the Superdome.

The Ravens, who are 3 1/2-point underdogs, are on one of those runs reminiscent of recent NFL champions. Indeed,

Road to the Super Bowl

- Baltimore's path to New Orleans led through New England, where the Ravens fell to the Patriots in last year's AFC title game. But they outscored the Patriots 21-0 in the second half to earn their spot in the Super Bowl.
- San Francisco also came up one win short a year ago, losing to the Giants for the NFC championship. That defeat has driven the 49ers just as much as the Ravens' failure in 2011 lifted them.

the New York Giants reached the Super Bowl a year ago in a similar manner, winning a wild-card game at home, then two playoffs on the road, including an overtime thriller.

The Giants got healthy down the stretch, something the Ravens have replicated, particularly on defence where star linebackers Ray Lewis and Terrell Suggs are giving vintage performances following injury-shortened seasons.

"That's what's been our road," Lewis said. "No matter who's been up, who's been down, who's been hurt, who's been injured. We found a way to pick each other up."

These Niners are built around a physical, stingy defence — that also has been the Ravens' persona for years, although not as much in 2012 as in Lewis's other 17 pro seasons. Linebacker Patrick Willis, who like Lewis wears No. 52 and is a perennial All-Pro, is the anchor.

"As a kid, you grew up watching," Willis said. "Last year we were one game away. To be able to be here is truly special."

To make it extra special, San Francisco's offence will need to outdo Baltimore's. The Ravens have scored 90 points in three games, and the Niners have 73 in two.

Baltimore's defence has made big plays against Andrew Luck, Peyton Manning and Tom Brady. Now it gets an entirely different type of quarterback, Colin Kaepernick. His combination of running skill, powerful arm and surprising cool for a second-year pro makes him particularly dangerous against the Ravens. Baltimore does not have the fastest defence in the

Forgotten QB Taylor will be waiting in the wings on Sunday

Everyone knows the starters, of course, Baltimore's Joe Flacco and San Francisco's Colin Kaepernick.

They even know about Alex Smith, who started for the 49ers until he was sidelined with a concussion in November and Kaepernick stepped in.

And Taylor? His resumé can be summed up on the top half of an index card: Two years, no starts and 30 passes — 25 of them in the Ravens' meaningless regular-season finale against Cincinnati last month.

That's because Flacco has started every game during the past five seasons and never has missed a down because of injury or ineffectiveness.

Still, Taylor knows he's only one play away from getting into the Super Bowl, and for that reason he's practising hard this week as Sunday's championship game draws near.

"There are so many situations throughout the league where the next guy is called in, so you can't look at how many straight games Joe has played without being league.

Then again, the 49ers must deal with Joe Flacco, the only QB to win a post-season game in each of his first five seasons. Flacco also has six road playoff victories, a league record.

While the Ravens and 49ers play for each other, the Harbaugh brothers, John of the Ravens and Jim of the 49ers, will go against each other in the first Super Bowl featuring sibling head coaches. They've had fun with the topic this week, but it will be as serious as football can get on Sunday.

'Operation Red Zone'

Officials nab phoney merch

Investigators have confiscated more than $13.6 million US worth of phoney sports merchandise over the past five months and expect to seize more in New Orleans during Super Bowl week, a federal law-enforcement official said Thursday.

U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement Director John Morton said authorities also have shut down more than 300 websites selling counterfeit goods as part of an enforcement effort dubbed "Operation Red Zone." The operation targeted international shipments of jerseys, hats and other souvenirs entering the U.S. for sale by stores, flea markets and street vendors.

And federal investigators say they have intelligence that shows even the Mexican drug cartels are getting involved in the counterfeit NFL black market trade because they can make quick money by selling fake jerseys in flea markets and parking lots.

In September, for example, HSI's newly created trade enforcement unit seized dozens of counterfeit San Francisco 49ers, Minnesota Vikings and Miami Dolphins jerseys around New Mexico.

No HGH tests despite deal

Count Baltimore Ravens defensive end Arthur Jones among those NFL players who want the league and union to finally agree on a way to do blood testing for human growth hormone.

"It would be fair to do blood testing," Jones said. "Hopefully they figure it out."

When the Ravens face the San Francisco 49ers in the Super Bowl on Sunday, two seasons will have come and gone without a single HGH test being administered, even though the league and the NFL Players Association paved the way for it in the 10-year collective bargaining agreement they signed in August 2011.

Since then, the sides have haggled over various elements, primarily the union's insistence that it needs more information about the validity of a test that is used by Olympic sports and Major League Baseball. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wrinkle in Ravens attack?

The 49ers are preparing for Tyrod Taylor, too.

- While Flacco is a traditional pocket passer, Taylor is just as likely to scoot downfield as throw the ball.
- He ran for 65 yards in a game against the Bengals, and at Virginia Tech he set a school record for rushing yards by a quarterback (2,196).

injured," Taylor said. "You never know what can happen at any second of the game. I have to be ready to take over if that happens."

Being a backup QB is a role Taylor takes seriously. He isn't in the Big Easy this week to take a stroll on Bourbon Street or munch on beignets.

"You have to be ready to play," Taylor said. "That's how you have to carry yourself throughout the week as far as preparation. You have to be physically prepared and mentally prepared because you never know when the opportunity may come."

Dancevic could play key role in Davis cup

International tennis.
Canada to face a top-ranked Team Spain hampered by injuries

A year later, Frank Dancevic knows for certain he will play a key role for Canada in a Davis Cup tie.

The 28-year-old from Niagara Falls, Ont., will take the court for two important singles matches in this week-end's first-round series against Spain, a year after he was an after-thought in Canada's tie against France last February.

"I love playing Davis Cup," Dancevic said as the draw was announced Thursday at the UBC venue where the best-of-five series will be held. "I've been part of the team for 10 years. It's an awesome feeling to win for your country."

Milos Raonic will kick off Canada's bid for a spot in the Davis Cup World Group quarter-finals.

Raonic, ranked No. 15 on the ATP Tour, will face No. 51

Albert Ramos in the first singles match when Canada's tie with Spain begins Friday.

The hard-serving 22-year-old from Thornhill, Ont., will also face Marcel Granollers in the fourth match on Sunday.

Dancevic, meanwhile, will also face Granollers, Spain's top singles player for this event, on Friday, and Ramos in the final match Sunday.

Dancevic only played last year against France after Raonic was sidelined for his second singles match with a minor knee injury. But Canadian captain Martin Laurendeau is asking Dancevic to be a potentially decisive factor as Vancouver's Vasek Pospisil concentrates on doubles while recuperating from mononucleosis.

"Any time you play for your country, you feel pressure," said Dancevic. "You want to play well for your country, and you want to perform out there."

"I feel like I want to play well. I don't know if it's pressure. But I just want to go out there and give it all I've got and perform the best I can."

Raonic, ranked No. 15 on the ATP Tour, will face No. 51

Opportunity

- Canada, which stands 12th in Davis Cup rankings, has never advanced beyond the first round.
- But the opportunity for an upset is ripe. Spain will be without four of its highest-ranked players — David Ferrer (4th), Rafael Nadal (5th), Nicolas Almagro (11th) and Fernando Verdasco (24th) — this weekend.

Dancevic, who lost to France's Jo-Wilfried Tsonga last year in place of Raonic, will try to re-live some of the Davis Cup magic he displayed in 2003, when he beat Brazil's Flavio Saretta in four sets in Calgary to return Canada to the World Group (top 16 countries) for the first time in a decade.

"I believe that I belong in the top 100," said Dancevic, who is ranked 166th. "I'm confident that my game is there."

Rudy Gay trade

Raps' Lowry thrilled about new addition

Kyle Lowry will happily call the Toronto Raptors his team, and is excited about sharing it with one of his best friends.

While Lowry said it was tough to lose Jose Calderon and Ed Davis in Wednesday's deal to acquire Rudy Gay, he was talking up his new teammate to reporters on Thursday, saying the team was getting a "superstar."

There will be an immediate level of comfort between Lowry and Gay. The two are good friends — Gay is godfather to Lowry's son — and as Lowry pointed out, "I've already passed the ball to Rudy before, so ... when he's here, it's going to be an easy transition for him and for our team I believe."

The deal that sent fan favourite Calderon ultimately to Detroit propelled Lowry back into the starting point guard position.

Horoscopes

Aries

March 21 - April 20

You will do your reputation, and maybe your bank balance too, a heap of good today by doing something that takes friends and family by surprise. People expect you to think and act in certain ways — so prove them wrong.

Taurus

April 21 - May 21

Whatever you do and however you do it, people will applaud you for a job well done. Both at home and at work you are leading a charmed life at the moment. Make the most of it. You know it won't last!

Gemini

May 22 - June 21

What you dream of now will come true in the near future, so dream away to your heart's content. It may be that certain people are not taking you seriously but they will soon learn the error of their ways.

Cancer

June 22 - July 23

You may be tempted to treat life as a bit of a joke over the next 24 hours, and most likely you are right to do so. The things that other people get worked up about are not worth the time or effort.

Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23

Anything is possible if you want it enough. If you really, truly desire something you will find a way to get it. Keep that thought in mind not just today but throughout the coming month. And act on it.

Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

You won't lack for self-belief today but watch out you don't get overly confident and make a mess of a task you could usually do with your eyes closed. You know what comes before a fall, don't you? Pride.

Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

Try to be a bit more cautious in your decisions today, especially if you are involved in a project that could cost you rather a lot if it goes wrong. Remember: There is no such thing as a sure thing.

Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

This looks like an excellent day for affairs of the heart. If there is someone you have been admiring from afar, now is the time to get up closer. Make contact and look for ways to spark a romance.

Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

No matter how daunting the task that faces you today you will make a good job of it. The most important step is the first one, so stop worrying that you are out of your depth and get cracking.

Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

Don't push yourself too hard today. Jupiter, planet of excess, is now moving forwards again through the wellbeing area of your chart, so you may be tempted to do something rash. You'll regret it in the morning.

Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

Your task for the day is to help others — not just friends and family but people you meet out in the world as well. The best way to help, as always, is to lead by example. No one does it better than you.

Pisces

Feb. 20 - March 20

It's OK to have fun — in fact it's essential — but don't go overboard and forget that you still have chores to finish and duties to fulfill. The harder you work now, the happier your weekend will be.
